

Shaylyn Woods: Media Correspondent

The 26-year-old Charleston resident developed a love for the “Holy City” at the age of seven.

She and her family moved from Jacksonville, Florida; and while in their new city, they started a new family tradition. Every Sunday after church, her parents would take Shaylyn and her sisters’ downtown Charleston. They would have brunch, visit the Market, and stroll along the Battery and Waterfront parks. Fulfilling almost every dining experience throughout the city, they began to schedule visits to Mount Pleasant, West Ashley and Summerville.

In 2006, Shaylyn moved to Columbia, South Carolina to attend Benedict College. She missed her Sunday outings, and soon realized that Charleston was one of the most dynamic cities in the world. Shortly after completing her undergraduate degree, she moved back to the Lowcountry and created TouShay Charleston.

